Chart of the day: 'Dead-cat' bounce by Spanish 10yr Yield

The Spanish Gov 10 year Bond Yield reaffirmed resistance at the 100-day moving average in late-December. The slump from that barrier, around 4.3%, quickly became oversold (note the low level of the RSI at the start of the year). However, the bounce from the low of 9 January ('thin lower tail' on that candle denotes intraday support) at 3.67% has had hardly any follow-through. In fact, it would appear at present that the decline could be reasserting.

Long-term graphs reveal that next important chart support is around the 3% mark, the floor established in 2005.

Weekly Comment:

Government Bond Futures

US - During the course of the week, the 5 year Treasury Note contract launched a strong counter move from 119.086. However, that has been checked already, with resistance arriving at the sideways area along 120; at the 50-day moving average. Note also the top formation evident above that level. A clearance is required to offset scope for a renewal of the down bias from the ceiling near 121, towards the September floor, near 118.50.

UK - Gilts extended the recovery off 106 this week, breaking the downtrend from the October high near 112. That said, there is currently some hesitation noted by the mid-December recovery high, at 108.93, though a more forceful down move is needed to reaffirm that barrier.

Europe - The Euro 5 year Bobl instrument has extended its early-2014 recovery rally this week. However, it is approaching an area of prior resistance around 126, which may well dampen bullish enthusiasm. In the event of a clearance, however, the next chart target will be the spring/summer 2013 ceiling near 127.

Asia - The previous decline by JGBs became oversold by the end of the year. The subsequent recovery rally was strongly extended on Tuesday. In the couple of days since then, the rate of advance has slowed. The late-2013 top area looms, starting near the sideways area along 144.5, and could be a factor. Should that level yield, bulls will aim for the 145 region.
